CHANGE AND PROSPERITY: THE ASPEN INSTITUTE PROGRAM ON THE WORLD ECONOMY

Conference Agenda

August 18 - August 21, 2010

Wednesday, August 18

6:00 pm-9:30 pm

Conference convenes over dinner at the Aspen Meadows.

Thursday, August 19:

8:00 am-9:30 am: Session I

Part One: Global Macroeconomic and Financial Outlook—Current Environment

9:30 am-11:00 am: Session I

Part Two: What are the Drivers that Will Sustain a Recovery This Time Around?

After three years of financial and economic stress, parts one and two of this session will evaluate the outlook for recovery and the systems for supporting it.

11:00 am-11:30 am: BREAK

11:30 am-1:30 pm: Session II

This session will look at the framework for macroeconomic and financial management in the Eurozone in light of the greater dispersion in economic, financial and budgetary performance of member countries, focusing on the management of these issues over the medium term.

Friday, August 20:

8:00 am-10:00 am Session III

The global status of financial reform developments will be the subject of this session with particular emphasis on the extent to which such reforms will materially reduce systemic risk, "too big to fail" and result in a stronger and safer global financial system.

Friday, August 20 (cont.)

10:00 am-10:30 am: BREAK

10:30 am-12:00 noon: Session IV

This session will address the fiscal policy legacies of the financial crisis and will discuss prospects for material reductions in the resulting large budget deficits incurred by many countries. It will also look at the related issue of whether these developments have altered expectations about the role of government in economic affairs.

12:00 noon-1:30 pm: Session V

Two interrelated issues will be the focus of this session: 1) can we, as a community of nations, forge the much needed enhancements in international policy coordination and 2) will relative growth dynamics between the so-called developing world (with particular emphasis on China and India) carry with it potentially important geopolitical considerations arising out of a shift in the balance of economic power?

Saturday, August 21:

8:00 am-10:00 am Session VI

This session will focus on the threat of cyber terrorism to government, industry and society at large amid attacks on the internet from a variety of sources.

The Conference ends with lunch in the Aspen Meadows dining room.
