

YOU ARE INVITED

“Reinventing Health Care: Frontline Innovations Transforming Local Care Delivery”

RSVP NOW

Tuesday, August 28, 2012

8:30 am – noon

You are invited to attend “Reinventing Health Care: Frontline Innovations Transforming Local Care Delivery,” co-hosted by The Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center and the Aspen Institute Health Innovation Project,* underwritten by ThinkWellPoint.

The agenda includes an overview of The Health Innovation Project’s report, “Reinventing Health Care: The Barriers to Innovation,” first released in Washington, D.C., in March 2012. Report authors will review findings on recommendations to empower consumers in their own health decisions and engage physicians and providers in the pursuit of innovation.

A panel of local experts will highlight Ohio State’s P4 Medicine – health care that’s predictive, preventive, personalized and participatory. P4 Medicine is an evidence-based model driving the Wexner Medical Center as a national leader in personalized health care. Recipients of Health Care Innovation Challenge grants from the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation will also discuss their efforts to transform care in Ohio and across the Midwest.

A roundtable discussion between report authors and local experts, as well as opportunities for audience Q&A, will follow.

1739 N High Street

Columbus, OH 43210

The Aspen Institute’s Health Innovation Project is a collaboration of experts whose broad perspectives represent the health care system itself — physicians, health plan leaders, policymakers, health care researchers, and patients — and whose shared intent is to create a delivery system that is coherent, cost-effective, and safe for all. It is an initiative of Aspen’s Health Stewardship Project and was launched in partnership with WellPoint, Inc. The Project’s forthcoming work will focus on charting a path to the ideal system.*
